FALL IN AMALGAMATED COPPER Gold coin THE CHIEF DRAWBACK.

Likelihood of the suppression of the gains.

And opening rise brought in a large volume of profit-taking sales from an element in the speculation which has come to expect an alternating current in the price movement from one day to another. The renewed operations on a large scale in United States Steel on a rising scale had important sentimental effect on the general tone. The action of that stock was not explained by any new development, but the idea persists that the price is destined to rise to par some time before Christmas. The buying of stocks was accompanied by professions of satisfaction with the tone of the President's message, which was called moderate and conservative and as warranting expectation of circumspect treatment of the top-les reserved for future special messages. Light receipts and cold weather throughout the corn belt were chiefly responsible for a strong market. An advance of ¼ to ½ in the price of the cash grain stimulated additional demand for futures. The market closed strong, with prices % to ½ higher.

Buying of the December option by cash interests was the feature of trading in oats. The principal bullish influence was the continuance of light receipts, which resulted in an advance of ¼ to ½ in the price of the cash grain. The market closed strong, with prices % to ½@¾ higher. ## Think of $17,500.00 for a Dog's Clothing in One Year while a Real Human Baby Girl Wears a Gingham Gown!

Just turn this over in your own mind. Then multiply it by 100,000. One hundred thousand wistful babies in gingham gowns while fortunes are spent on barbered puppies in silken coats-and Christmas time is coming, Christmas with its message of "Peace on earth, good will toward men"—men, not dogs. But read the story in Pearson's Magazine for December. It is told by Richard Barry, who has seen the babies—and the dogs. If you love children better than dogs it will please you more than any story you have read this year; if you love dogs better than children it will add more humanity to your soul than any you ever read—and it may bring a home to some child and a real Christmas to you.

In the same issue is a common-sense explanation of the cause of divorce—the real cause of the growing unrest in American homes. James Creelman tells how the United States Army has found a positive prevention for typhoid fever. The real meaning of the Caunon rules is set forth so that all may understand. There is an astonishing story of the shamefully iniquitous treatment of the insane in this country, and seven short stories of fiction that are masterpieces.
